OFFICIAL LIST OFFICERS, AGENTS, ATTORNEYS, SURGEONS, STATIONS, ETC.

No. 70

MAY 1, 1927

NOTE—Any person finding an error in this list is requested to send a statement of it to the undersigned at once.

Agents and employes, in their intercourse and relations with the public, must at all times be courteous, and the inquirer for information should have a patient hearing and a polite answer. Even if the inquiry should seem simple, insignificant, or unnecessary, it should receive courteous attention, and if circumstances or other pressing duties prevent full response at the time, that fact should be courteously stated and the inquirer politely requested to await a more favorable opportunity.

All information given to the public must be known to be accurate, especially in regard to sleeping car accommodations, time of connecting trains and similar matters which are of much importance to the traveler. Incorrect information invariably results in expense, disappointment and annoyance to the passenger, and frequently in loss to the Road, directly or indirectly.

When an employe is unable to give correct information, he should so advise the inquirer.

A. E. CLIFT,

Senior Vice President
