"The only Cog Ry. in America"

In these days the public is too busy to read a lot of descriptive matter, so no attempt will be made here to describe the many wonders of this trip; neither can the story be told with pictures, as photography cannot reproduce the grandeur and sublimity that is seen with the eye; it is a continuous panorama of wonders and a continuous succession of thrills.

You not only go to the tip-top point of America's most famous mountain, but you do it on the only railway of its kind in America,—and one that reaches the highest altitude of any scenic mountain railway in the world,—and one that excels the European Cog roads, notwithstanding they are the important scenic features in those countries.

Comfortable glass enclosed observation cars

Pikes Peak was discovered by Zebulon M. Pike, (then a Lieutenant in U. S. A.), November 13, 1806, and it fittingly bears his name, though he did not succeed in climbing to the summit. He reached the summit of Cheyenne Mountain and looking across at the summit of the Peak made the statement that it would never be climbed by man.

SUMMIT HOUSE: The Summit House has been remodeled inside and is now the terminal station for both the Cog Road and Auto Highway; it has lunch room, Souvenir Store, Telegraph and Telephone Office, and the observation tower annex. Rooms are available for those who desire to stay overnight.

$5

FARE from either Colorado Springs or Manitou $5.00, children 5 years and over and under 12 years, half-fare. Tickets sold at Colorado Springs include street car fares between Colorado Springs and Cog Ry. Station in both directions.

How to make the trip

Passengers starting from Colorado Springs take street car marked Manitou and change at end of line at Manitou loop to stub street car line that runs to Cog station; leave Colorado Springs by 8:05 A. M. for the morning trip or 1:00 P. M. for the afternoon trip.

Or drive your auto to Cog Ry. Station at Manitou; parking privilege free while trip is made.
