Waialua Resorts.

Elegant New Hotel, Attractive Refectory.

The Oahu Railway affords tourists and others an opportunity to view an unequalled variety of scenery and, transported in first-class equipment, to reach a resort suited to all classes.

Leaving Honolulu and passing through rice fields, the traveler skirts the great inland waters of Pearl Harbor in sight of charming distant mountain views, often spanned by many rainbows. The mountains further on crowd the railway close to the ocean. Here and there deep valleys, guarded by high mountain sides almost perpendicular, give sun and clouds an opportunity to display wonderful combinations of light and shadow on the varied greens and browns of the landscape.

Along the line are situated the most productive sugar plantations in the world, each representing an investment of millions of dollars, so vast are the agricultural operations, their pumping plants equaling those of the greatest cities, and mills producing hundreds of tons of sugar daily.

The north of the island refreshed by the N. E. trade winds, enjoys a cool and invigorating climate.

WAIALUA HOTEL AND REFECTORY.

This beautiful new hotel furnishes guests with the comforts and privileges of an elegant home with facilities for bathing, boating and hunting.

An attractive refectory with broad piazzas, lanais, parlors and refreshment rooms has been built near sea and depot for entertainment of excursions, meals, lunches, bathing, etc.

The Waialua hotel and refectory will open in February, 1899.

WAIANAË.

Pleasant hotel accommodations and good service may be found at Waianae, the station most convenient to the coffee plantations.

Pearl City and Peninsula, situated near the proposed United States naval station, promise an important future, and already have attractive homes.
