One-Day Sightseeing Excursion

Round Trip between
Denver and Granby, Colorado . . .

$4.00 plus tax for adults
$2.00 plus tax for children under 12

• This is an ideal, low-cost way to enjoy a private sightseeing excursion through the spectacular scenery of Denver's own "front yard." You leave Denver at 9:05 A.M. on Rio Grande's Yampa Valley Mail . . . within minutes you're climbing the front range of the Colorado Rockies. Looking back to the east as the train glides smoothly upward, you're treated to a magnificent panorama of Denver and the high plains of Colorado . . . nearly $\frac{1}{4}$ of the state is visible from your front-range vantage point. Then, suddenly, you plunge into the majestic splendor of the Colorado Rockies . . . only your modern train remains to denote civilization. The ever-changing scenery — raw mountain sides, rushing streams, stately evergreens and wild creatures afoot and aflight — captivates your attention, absorbs you in Nature's full embrace.

At 11:30 A.M. you arrive in Granby . . . take lunch in one of the cafes or enjoy your own picnic snack . . . then board the eastbound Yampa Valley Mail at 12:44 P.M. for the return trip. The daylight trip back to Denver is not repetitious, but even more exciting as you discover the variety of scenic delights only this route thru the Rockies provides! You're back in Denver at 3:20 P.M., rested but refreshed and inspired by your journey into the ageless, unspoiled wonderlands of the Colorado Rockies.

Take the whole family . . . get up a group . . . or just get "away from it all" yourself. This is a trip to treasure, an extra measure of Nature's pleasures.

Two-Day Sightseeing Excursion

Round Trip between
Denver and Steamboat Springs, Colorado . . .

$8.75 plus tax for adults
$4.38 plus tax for children under 12

Round Trip between
Denver and Craig, Colorado . . .

$10.40 plus tax for adults
$5.20 plus tax for children under 12

• This is the economical, car-free and carefree way to enjoy the most scenic route in the world. You depart from Denver at 9:05 A.M. . . . enjoy a sweeping view of the "Queen City and her Plains," then settle back for a full front-row view of magnificent Middle Park and the incomparable beauty of the Yampa Valley. The recreational facilities at each community along the route are many, and you may prefer to spend the afternoon and evening at one of them; but only the complete journey to Steamboat Springs or Craig will provide full enjoyment of Colorado's unique scenic splendor. Arrival at Steamboat Springs at 3:13 P.M., Craig at 4:20 P.M. permits fishing, horseback riding and other pursuits before and after dinner. A wide variety of accommodations are available in each community to assure a pleasant overnight visit. Returning, Yampa Valley Mail leaves Craig at 8:05 A.M., Steamboat Springs at 9:08 A.M. Once again, you're treated to a daylight journey through majestic settings unmatched anywhere in the world. You'll want to take a camera along to record Nature's wonders, but even without photographs to remind you, you'll not soon forget the spectacular show that only this train . . . and this route . . . provide!

Make up a party . . . take the family . . . or come along by yourself — this visit with Nature will give you a new, inspired outlook at life, and will provide you with a reservoir of pleasant memories.
