LAKE TAHOE, 15 MILES FROM TRUCKEE—SEASON MAY-OCTOBER, 1912

Safety of Railroad Travel

The Union and Southern Pacific railroad systems are now reaping the benefits of years of consistent effort to promote safety of travel on their lines, and their success has been such as to inspire even greater future effort. Within a period of four years the record of the Southern Pacific is absolutely clear,—not one single passenger lost his life through a collision or derailment of its trains. This means that during that time, 157,000,000 passengers were safely carried to their destinations on its lines, traveling an average distance of forty-two miles, or a total of 6,594,000,000 miles, or 265,000 times around the world.

The Union Pacific, in approximately the same period, fell short of this perfect record by but a single accident resulting in the death of one passenger.

Without attempting to make invidious comparisons, it may be stated that these records, covering nearly 17,520 miles, surpass those of the railroads of Great Britain, covering 23,000 miles, which are considered models of safety. That this remarkable showing is the result of something more than chance is obvious, and it may be well to point out briefly what has been done by the management to carry out its policy of "Safety First" in the operation of its properties.

Within the past five years $6,000,000 have been expended in installing automatic block signals. Every mile of the lines of the Union-Southern Pacific systems to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland is now protected.

To reduce to a minimum the hazard of accident, the Union and Southern Pacific systems, during the past ten years, have been drilling their trainmen in the observance of danger signals by a system of surprise tests, the results of which have been very satisfactory, showing that of approximately 20,000 tests made during the past year 99 per cent were fully respected, and practically all of those classed as "failures" were respected sufficiently to have averted accident.

Every accident involving a hazard of human life is promptly and fully investigated to determine the cause and to prescribe, if possible, the remedy against a recurrence. This is done by convening a board of inquiry composed of division officers and two or more prominent citizens, as representatives of the public. The findings of the board of inquiry are given freely to the press for publication and are transmitted with all data to the president, who, if the report is not conclusive, may convene successive boards of inquiry and employ technical experts if necessary until the real cause is determined and the responsibility located. Employees are encouraged to make suggestions in the interest of increased safety and their suggestions are systematically and carefully considered by committees appointed for that purpose. Through the frequent distribution of government reports of investigations of important accidents and company bulletins, all employees are taught that

Save Millions of Dollars Yearly

By Being Careful In the Use of Fire

Forest Fires Mean: Danger to lives and property of settlers. Labor turned away empty-handed. Reduced market for our crops. Heavier taxation on other property. Disturbed stream flow. For every dollar lost by the timber owner, the COMMUNITY LOSES five times as much in Wages and Market for Supplies.

FOREST FIRES

Every traveler or resident in forest regions is urged to take precautions against the escape of forest fires. A match tossed thoughtlessly away, a camp-fire left smoldering, a spark from a carelessly burned brush-heap, may cause injury and distress beyond calculation. Besides the danger to lives, homes and property of settlers, every acre of forest burned means labor turned away empty-handed, reduced market for our crops, heavier taxation on other property, stream flow disturbed, and higher lumber prices. This attack on the safety and property of our citizens is as unnecessary as it is serious. Precautions with small fires will prevent big ones. All that is required is exercise of the same care with fire in forest regions that one takes without question in his own home or in a city. Will you not do this if business or pleasure takes you to the woods in the dry season? The law requires it.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK VIA MERCED Reached by Southern Pacific

TEN DAYS STOPOVER TO SEE YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK allowed at Merced, on first and second-class rail and Pullman tickets to or from Eastern points.

The fourteen mile stage ride from El Portal to the Sentinel Hotel now affords one of the pleasant features of the Yosemite trip. This road follows the cascades of the Merced River all the way and many of the prominent points of interest are viewed from the stage.

A Sprinkling system recently installed by the Government has greatly improved conditions and keeps the road free from dust in summer.

THROUGH SLEEPING CAR SERVICE Via ALL GATEWAYS

Standard sleepers are always numbered numerically while Tourist sleepers are numbered alphabetically. Agents must bear this in mind and all replies to space messages should be scrutinized in order to guard against mistakes. The new Pullman rules do not permit the sale of space in blank, and it is no longer permissible to use one kind of accommodation part way and another for the remainder of the trip. For example:—a lower berth cannot be sold to Ogden with blank space or an upper Ogden to Chicago.
