MOUNT DIABLO SCENIC TRIP

The Greatest panorama of mountains, rivers and valleys in California

A short ride by electric train and auto

AVOID the crowded week-ends and take the mid-week trip to the summit of Mount Diablo.

It is one of the most beautiful to be had in all California.

It is the ONE trip in the world where one can view a thousand-mile panorama of mountain, valley and sea.

The geological and atmospheric conditions surrounding the mountain make this possible, according to Prof. Davis of the University of California.

Rising to a height of nearly 4,000 feet, possessing an unobstructed view to the four points of the compass, Diablo stands sentinel over half the State.

The vast green and brown and gray stretches of California's two famous valleys—the Sacramento and the San Joaquin—can be viewed from this point. The courses of the two great rivers of similar name unfold like silver ribbons until they are lost to vision in a haze of distance.

The sweep of the Sierras—majestic, serene, seeming to scrape the stars—and far to the north snow-crowned Shasta and Lassen, this State's active volcano, offer the visitor a superb view of California's mountain ranges.

Below and southward swing the Contra Costa hills and the lateral of the Coast Range.

Westward is the Pacific and San Francisco Bay—the greatest of all land-locked harbors. The valleys and hills of Central California lie all about.

The panorama is unfolded in an unending glory of lights and shadows.

The Indians called the mountain Koo-Wah-Koom. It is one of the legendary mountains of the West.

THIS TRIP TO THE SUMMIT OF MOUNT DIABLO HAS JUST BEEN OPENED TO THE PUBLIC.
